Teleworld offers free, unlimited calling to nearly 70 countries including the US & Canada. Customers can also keep their existing phone number or choose one from nearly anywhere in the world.

Who Needs Teleworld™?

People across the world are finding that Internet phone service is the new, easier way to communicate. Unlike traditional landline phone service, Internet phone service allows users make inexpensive phone calls using their broadband Internet connection and compatible Internet phone. So who needs Teleworld? Everyone that makes phone calls! It's that simple.

What you need is the simplicity of reliable dial tone, local or toll-free numbers wherever in the world – or where you want to appear to be – and the ability to port over your existing number. Throw in features that you're most already used to like caller ID, call waiting and call forwarding (just to name a couple) as well as unlimited calling to everywhere you need, at a competitive price and we'd say InPhonex has all of those needs covered. As well as a long list of bells and whistles that we just know you will be excited to use!

What you don't need is a contract, a device you need to buy in order for your service to function, setup or porting fees, packages that just don't fit your needs, a poor customer service experience and no guarantee or commitment to your satisfaction overall. InPhonex is committed to giving you all that you need and none of what you don't need.

The way consumers use their home phone service is changing. Many are pairing their home phone with their mobile phone to enjoy valuable benefits. Having calls to their home ring simultaneously on their cell and being able to make voice and video calls – especially international calls – on their mobile phone using their home phone account, are two especially popular features. Teleworld offers these benefits and more when subscribers install a softphone (a software phone) on their iPhone or Android smartphone. Teleworld makes adding a softphone to your account easy in two key ways:

- There is no monthly charge for adding a softphone to a Teleworld account.
- InPhonex has tested all the leading softphones and is recommending Acrobits softphones for Teleworld – their softphones work perfectly with Teleworld and they are easy to configure.
